Manoj Singh

Group Chief Executive Officer, MSN Air Service

Manoj Singh is a globally respected aviation and logistics leader with over 33 years of experience across airport cargo operations, airline logistics, ground handling, and integrated supply chain ecosystems. As Group Chief Executive Officer of MSN Air Service, headquartered at JFK (John F. Kennedy International Airport), New York, he is leading the organization's strategic expansion into a globally aligned aviation services enterprise with growing interests across North America, South America, and the Caribbean. Recognized for combining operational excellence with infrastructure-led growth, Manoj has built a reputation as a transformative leader within the international aviation industry.

Prior to joining MSN Air Service, Manoj Singh served as Chief Cargo Officer at Adani Airports Holding Limited, where he held full P&L responsibility for cargo operations across eight airports in India. He played a pivotal role in developing multiple greenfield cargo businesses and conceptualized one of India's first airport-linked integrated logistics ecosystems. Earlier, as Senior Vice President and Head of Cargo at Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport in Mumbai, the financial capital of India and home to one of the world's fastest-growing aviation markets, he led cargo operations at one of South Asia's busiest international gateways, driving digital transformation, pharma cargo infrastructure, and globally benchmarked operational excellence initiatives.

Over the course of his distinguished career, Manoj Singh has held senior leadership positions with Menzies Aviation, Lufthansa Cargo, and Airports Authority of India, contributing significantly to the modernization of airport cargo infrastructure, specialized handling systems, and aviation logistics capabilities. His industry contributions and leadership excellence have earned him multiple recognitions and professional honours across the aviation and logistics sector, particularly for cargo innovation, infrastructure development, operational transformation, and strategic leadership.

Widely regarded as a technocrat and industry visionary, Manoj Singh has also played an influential role in shaping aviation and logistics policy. He has served as Co-Chairman – Logistics at the Indian Merchants' Chamber, Board Member and Regional Chairman at Air Cargo Forum India, and Advisory Board Member with leading logistics and freight industry bodies. A triple postgraduate, Gold Medalist, and MBA, he has further completed executive leadership programs with Airports Council International, Montreal, and Concordia University. His ability to combine operational depth, governance excellence, and future-focused innovation continues to position him among the most influential leaders in global aviation services and a distinguished contender for CEO of the Year recognition.
